Dear Art,

In order to support your training initiatives at the Potomac Forum, we would like to officially inform your conference attendees and participants that their involvement in the Potomac Forum's training offerings count as Continuing Professional Education (CPE) credits with (ISC)2.

Our organization recognizes the Potomac Forum's commitment to professionalizing the workforce and is happy to extend this notice to those attending your functions.

For attendees who carry the SSCP, CISSP, ISSEP, ISSMP, ISSAP or CAP credential from (ISC)2, the following CPE credits will apply:

A. For each full day of training at a Potomac Forum event, credential holders are eligible for 8 CPE credits towards their continuing education requirements from (ISC)2.
B. For events less than one day, attendees and participants are eligible for one CPE credit for each hour spent at a Potomac Forum event.
C. Speakers and presenters at Potomac Forum events are eligible for one CPE credit per hour spent preparing or delivering materials during your sessions.
D. Attendees who participate in non-training events with the Potomac Forum (attending meetings, publishing articles, listening to vendor presentations, etc.) are also eligible for one CPE per hour spent on activities with your organization.

Credential holders must enter their CPE credits in the usual manner on the (ISC)2 website.

We sincerely appreciate the Potomac Forum's commitment to providing education to the information technology community and will continue to support your efforts. We wish you great success in future years!

Best Regards,

John Mongeon
